

FORMAL STATEMENT: SECURITY INCIDENT AND SCIENTIFIC MATERIAL LEAK

INCIDENT DATE: 2025 to January 2, 2026

NATURE: Unauthorized system access resulting in research material leakage

DESCRIPTION:

During the indicated period, a security compromise occurred in personal systems that resulted in the unauthorized leakage of multiple research works in mathematics, physics, and computer science.

AFFECTED RESEARCHER:

José Manuel Briceño Mendoza (also referred to as Juan José Briceño Mendoza)

Independent Researcher - Venezuela

Contact: josemanuelbric@gmail.com

LEAKED SCIENTIFIC MATERIAL:

PRIMARY DOCUMENTATION:

1. Theoretical framework "ABSI-EF: Binary Trees of Infinite Series in Functional Space"
https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/ABSI-EF/tree/main/2026/ABSI-EF_And_Collatz/ABSI-EF.pdf
2. Solution to the Collatz Conjecture using the ABSI-EF approach
https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/ABSI-EF/tree/main/2026/ABSI-EF_And_Collatz/Collatz.pdf

COMPUTATIONAL IMPLEMENTATIONS:

3. Computational analysis of the Riemann Hypothesis using ABSI-EF
<https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/ABSI-EF/tree/main/2026/Riemann.py>
4. Knapsack problem optimization via ABSI-EF
https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/ABSI-EF/tree/main/2026/mochila_knapsack.py

OTHER COMPROMISED RESEARCH LINES:

- Mathematical Incompleteness Problem
- Theory of Everything (Dimensional Theory and Atomic Dimensional Theory)
- P vs NP
- NP-Hard
- Works with prime numbers
- Well-Ordering Theory
- Various programming works
- Understanding of infinite series
- Random numbers for topological space analysis

Complete repository: <https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/>

LEAKAGE EVIDENCE:

Identical copies of this material have been verified to appear on public platforms such as vixra.org, published by unidentified third parties without authorization from the author.

AUTHOR'S STATEMENT:

The leakage of this material occurs against my will and without prior evaluation of its academic and ethical implications. Originally, the decision not to publish responded to the need to analyze in depth the scientific, philosophical, and human dimensions of this research.

Signed,

José Manuel Briceño Mendoza

Independent Researcher

Caracas, Venezuela

January 5, 2026

Contact: josemanuelbric@gmail.com

Official repository: <https://github.com/josemanuelbric-lang/>